Though he had gone to arrest him, a CID officer had to seek the help of Nithyananda for relief from a nerve wracking back pain. DySP (CID) Hussain, who had gone to Himachal Pradesh last weekend to arrest Nithyananda was suffering from acute back pain because of long distance travel from Bengaluru and he reportedly asked Nithyananda if he could relieve him of his pain. The godman gave him acupressure and his hand on Hussain's hand and within five minutes the cop sprang back to his feet fit enough to arrest Nithyananda and escort him back to Bengaluru.

The court said the affidavit has to be filed specifying the statement of witnesses against Nithyananda under section 376 of IPC (charges of rape) and should also reveal why efforts have not been made to obtain the state government's consent before proceeding against Nithyananda under section 295A of IPC (deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings of any class).

The court said if the police is finding it difficult to collect statements of people living abroad, it is better for them to travel and conclude the case.

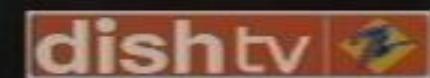

Mr Reddy also submitted an affidavit running into more than 20 pages giving details of a recent compliant filed against Nithyananda by a woman devotee. The officer submitted that the CID had recorded the statement of the complainant in August 2010.
